

Wedding Photography by Mike Oldenburg

Choosing the right photographer is an important decision. After the day is over, your wedding photographs will be the most cherished keepsake of your wedding day. My years of experience as a wedding photographer and a newspaper photojournalist give me a unique set of skills for photographing weddings. Your coverage will include several styles of photography: the creative fun poses that show a relaxed and loving relationship between the couple; the traditional formal and family photographs; and a candid photojournalistic style that will capture the peak moments of emotion that tell the complete story of your day.

In addition to my professional experience, I believe you should hire a fun and competent professional photographer at an affordable price. As you continue to look for a photographer you'll notice that we are not all alike and we do not offer the same products & prices. That will make it hard to compare. I suggest you look for a photographer with: an exceptional quality that you can see in their creative photography; affordable and flexible packages; and someone you can trust in capturing the most important pictures of your big day. Exceptional quality at affordable prices = that's Oldenburg Photography!
